MA in Nationalism Studies · 1 year · 2 years

Founded by Ernest Gellner, this is one of the only programs in the world solely dedicated to the study of nationalism, including migration, ethnic conflict, prejudice, self-determination, populism, minority protection and language and citizenship rights. Providing a thorough theoretical and methodological grounding, our extensive curriculum is continually evolving to reflect new realities. You will also have the chance to investigate problems of nationalism in the context of economic and political transition in post-1989 Eastern and Southeastern Europe, with a comparative outlook on regime transitions across the globe.

Our program comes in two formats. The one-year degree is designed for candidates with a four-year bachelor's degree, while the two-year version is primarily for graduates with a three-year bachelor's degree.

▲ OUR FACULTY

Our department runs several research projects funded by the European Research Council in state-of-the-art research facilities. We have dedicated testing space, equipped for testing infants, children and adults, with eye and motion tracking, musical instruments, EEG and NIRS. We offer numerous opportunities for networking and collaboration. Our vibrant, multicultural community hosts weekly colloquium talks as well as regular conferences and workshops to exchange ideas and network with fellow researchers.
